WORSHIP & WORD

6.30pm Gladly Samuel

I see the mountain facing you—how hard it seems to be
I see despair that's draining you of grace and liberty
No path appears to be there, it's barren, cold and bare
Alone, abandoned, on your own and no one seems to care
But stop, consider, think again, for I am here with you
To hold you tight, to take your hand, together we'll go through
Gems of truth, My presence, My strength to be your guide
I'm using this that feels so rough to draw you to My side
Heather Ataya
